

Press Release

AIDA guest for a day - ship visits in Hamburg, Kiel, and Warnemünde

Walking along the gangway just once, standing at the railing, and looking out over the ocean or eating in one of AIDA's on-board restaurants - residents of Hamburg, Kiel, and Rostock, as well as vacationers on the coast will have the chance to fulfill this dream again in 2015. The first few dates of ship visits for the coming season have already been established and can be booked starting immediately.

AIDamar will kick things off on March 21, 2015 in Hamburg. In addition to AIDAcara, AIDAluna can also be visited in Kiel this year for the first time. In Warnemünde AIDAdiva will be added to the program, thus providing an initial opportunity to get to know this ship as well.

The ship visit includes a tour lasting about three hours as well as lunch on board. During the tours, visitors will get a glimpse of the ships' public areas - from the wellness oasis to the Kids Club and various staterooms. Afterwards, visitors will embark on a journey of culinary discovery in one of the buffet restaurants.

The ship visit costs 49 euros per person. Children 15 years of age and younger are welcome on board free of charge. As a way of saying thank you, guests who book an AIDA trip within the three months following their ship visit will receive on-board credit for 50 euros.*

There are currently 12 dates to choose from in the northern German port cities. Other dates are to follow. You can register at www.aida.de/schiffsbesuche.
